Aswan

Aswan is a city known for its historical sights and attractions, so it should be placed in your plans when visiting Egypt. It is impossible to visit Egypt without staying at least one fun day in Aswan. When it is simply a day, one can experience many Aswan. One such remarkable activity, for example, the Temple of Vila, located on the island of Ajilkia near Aswan, was dedicated to ISIS in the Pharaonic era. The construction began in the Ptolemaic period and was completed in Roman times. It was a center of worship in antiquity, characterized by the beauty of its architecture and prominent inscriptions representing the pharaonic myths, but with the construction of the high dam, the original Elephant Island was submerged in water, and the temple was moved to Agelkia Island in the 1960s with UN aid to save it from drowning.

The Unfinished Obelisk of the modern Middle Ages from the Pharaonic State can also be visited, and it is believed that the sculpture was commissioned by Queen Hatshepsut, the largest of its kind ever made, with a length of 42 meters and an estimated weight of 1,200 tons.

The high dam will be our next port of adventure in our journey; it holds great importance for the prosperity and the benefit of Egypt. Constructed under President Jamal Abdel-Nasser, it was finished in 1970 with the assistance of the Soviet Union. The dam is about 111 meters high, 3,830 meters long, and 980 meters wide. The lake will shift over 500 km and hold some water and about 162 billion cubic meters. A day tour in Aswan is one of the best ways to highlight your wonderful vacations and learn more about Egypt and its people.

Philae Temple, High Dam and the Unfinished Obelisk Trip from Aswan

Exploring the Temple of Philae, the High Dam, and the Unfinished Obelisk using Magic

Our Egyptology expert tour guide will come and collect you from your residence around 8 a.m. and drive you to the main places of interest in Aswan, where we shall have fun.

The Unfinished Obelisk, the most dramatic of Egypt's attractions, will be your initial destination. The gigantic, incomplete obelisk is a silent witness to the incredible engineering and sculpturing skills of the ancient Egyptians. The incomplete obelisk provides a rare chance to view the ancient technical wonders close at hand and learn about how these gigantic structures were built. It is thought that the obelisk was constructed as part of his architectural work during the reign of Queen Hatshepsut (18th family). However, the sculptural process was abruptly interrupted by the discovery of cracks in the rock.

Then we continue our trip to the Temple of Philae, which is located in the middle of the waters of the Nile River and offers visitors a wonderful scene where history blends with nature. Sailing to the temple through traditional boats is part of a charming experience. The temple is also one of the most important sites of ancient Egyptian antiquities, reflecting the art of Ptolemy and religious architecture. The temple tells stories about the goddess Isis and her myths.
