Don't pass up this chance that Cairo Top Tours presents to you on a golden platter, where you can blend the splendor of the present with the aroma of the past. The Giza Pyramids and the Grand Egyptian Museum, where the enormous statues and temple walls tell history, will be our destinations.

Our first stop will be the Grand Egyptian Museum, a contemporary cultural structure that showcases a magnificent collection of King Tutankhamun's treasures and houses hundreds of unique objects in an environment that blends contemporary technology with the essence of ancient history.

You have the opportunity to tour the Grand Egyptian Museum. Under the auspices of the United Nations Educational, Scientific, and Cultural Organization (UNESCO) and the International Union of Architects, the Egyptian government announced in 2002 that the Great Egyptian Museum would be built in a prime location overlooking the immortal pyramids of Giza. The museum's design was based on the idea that the sun's rays flowing from the tops of the three pyramids, when combined, represent a conical mass that is the Great Egyptian Museum.

In addition, it is not possible to go on a tour in Cairo without visiting the area of the Pyramids of Giza, which is one of the most famous archaeological sites in Egypt, including the pyramids of the kings of the Fourth Dynasty Khufu, his son Khafre and his grandson Mankhaura, as well as the famous Sphinx. Each of the pyramids of the kings had a group of pyramids, Each king's pyramid contained a cluster of pyramids, including the queens' pyramids, a valley temple from which a path rose to an upper temple called a funeral temple, and a little pyramid believed to be the king's theological pyramid. Priests conducted funeral and burial rites for the king who had passed away inside these temples. The area formerly housed the boats of Khufu, known as the Sun Boats, which were recently moved to the Great Egyptian Museum when it opened, but the area still retains the wells of these boats. Finally, the area contains mastabas for burying dignitaries and members of the royal family.

Tour to Grand Egyptian Museum and Giza Pyramids

One of Cairo Top Tours' expert guides will be waiting for you at your hotel in Cairo or Giza at 9:00 a.m. to take you in a private air-conditioned car to start your day exploring the highlights of Cairo.

At the beginning of your exciting day, we will head to the Great Egyptian Museum, which was built to be the largest museum of antiquities in the world, with a capacity of 5 million visitors per year. In addition to commercial and recreational service buildings, a restoration center and a museum garden are to be planted with trees already known to the ancient Egyptians. Egypt has launched a campaign to finance the project, with Japan's JICA providing soft loans. The museum will house more than 100,000 artifacts from the Pharaonic, Greek, and Roman eras, which will give a major boost to the Egyptian tourism sector.

We will embark on another unique journey to the Pyramids of Giza after enjoying a delectable lunch at one of Cairo's neighborhood eateries. The pyramids of Khufu, his son Khafre, and his grandson Menkaure, as well as the well-known Sphinx, are in Giza, one of Egypt's most well-known archaeological sites. Every king's pyramid had a collection of pyramids, such as the queens' pyramids, a little pyramid believed to be the king's theological pyramid, and a valley temple from which a path rose to an upper temple called a funerary temple. Within these temples, the priests performed the king's funeral and burial ceremonies. The region still has the wells of the Khufu boats, also called the Boats of the Sun, which were formerly housed there but were recently relocated to the newly opened Great Egyptian Museum. Last but not least, the region has mastabas for the interment of royal family members and dignitaries.

After that, you'll be driven back to your hotel.
