Wadi El Natrun

Before one embarks upon this never-forgotten journey to calm Wadi El Natrun just a few hours away in the Western Desert of Egypt from Alexandria Port, the trip offers a city-life escape into a landscape whose past is rich in spirit. Wadi El Natrun is renowned for its Coptic monasteries, very ancient, some dating back over a thousand years, and the cradle of Christian monasticism in its very earliest stages. Activities during the monument tour include sightseeing the great places of worship, viewing the architecture, and appreciating their local significance.

And Wadi El Natrun is not just the monasteries; the vastness outside is painted with desert seeps into the horizon-dazzling beauty. The colossal empty spaces of the desert resonate with a soothing tranquil atmosphere; hence, perfect for photography and meditation. With departure being from Alexandria Port, it is ideal for any traveler wishing to witness the other face of Egypt that walks hand-in-hand with heritage and nature.

History, culture, or just gazing at tourist groups... Whatever you are into, Wadi El Natrun will be a rewarding experience packed with discoveries and wonder!

Wadi El Natrun Tour from Alexandria Port

The ancient city of Alexandria was taken late in the morning or during the early afternoon before boarding an air-conditioned car for an excursion into Egypt's Western Desert. At Wadi El Natrun, the pleasant desert atmosphere awaits your exploration, along with the historic Coptic monasteries.

Different monasteries are visited, each having a unique charm and history going back centuries. Walking around the ancient courtyards and looking at the traditional murals is nothing short of absorbing the spiritual existence from ancient times that permeated this quarter. Your expert English-speaking guide will share intriguing tales about the history and culture of the area.

After the monasteries, you will enjoy a fresh lunch in peaceful surroundings. Bottled water will be provided all day should you get thirsty. And thus the tour ends with a calming journey back to Alexandria Port, leaving you to reflect on the amalgamation of history, art, and nature that this excursion has so uniquely offered.
