The Giza Pyramids & Old Cairo Tour, on the other hand, is recommended, so you will be able to visit all the other notable structures in Egypt today. Start the day by flying from Aswan to Cairo in the morning. There a very busy guided tour of the famous pyramids of Giza will be conducted. Move your feet to gawk at the great stone structure of the Great Pyramid of Giza which is one of the remaining seven wonders of the world and mighty pyramids Khafre and Menkaure. Finally, visit the eternal sphinx, the one who has been the end of the Giza, and the vultures surrounding the area as if it were a mountain itself, and hated to see the times pass, shrouded in mystery, and stop by the valley temple where ritual mutilation and embalming took place.

For the love of the pyramids, proceed and spend more time knowing more about the region, this time with a trip to Old Cairo which is known for having some of the most sacred, historic spots of Egypt. Look at the present state, however, of the Hanging Church in Coptic Cairo, which dates to the 3rd century and many other churches such as Saint Abramaeous Church, which was built over a rock where Douglas's shelter of the Holy family. Visit the Ben Ezra synagogue while still in the area which has deep Jewish roots, and then cross over to Islamic Cairo where the towering mosque of Muhammad Ali rather than the Muhammad Ali architecture occupies nearly all view of the sky within the Saladin Citadel.

Complete your sightseeing with a nice Egyptian meal right from a nearby restaurant then get ready for your flight back to Aswan by transferring to the airport once again. No matter what kind of a person you are, if you have dared to enter the sandy and dry terrains of Egypt, the Giza pyramids and the Old Cairo tour are simply exhilarating and satisfying.

Trip to Giza Pyramids, El Rifai, and Sultan Hassan Mosque

Early in the morning take a flight and start your journey in Aswan to land in Cairo, where your private Egyptologist guide will welcome you upon arrival at Cairo International Airport. Travel in a private air-conditioned vehicle to your first stop-the ancient castle of Saladin-very well situated on a hillock, which offers spectacular panoramic sceneries of Cairo and is home to the renowned Mosque of Muhammad Ali, the magnificent architectural model of the grand Ottoman style.

Then, discover the Mosque-Madrassah of Sultan Hasan as well as the Al-Rifai in another brilliant representation of monumental Islamic architecture and finally end your day at the Pyramids of Giza Plateau, which will make a journey full of excitement, as well as great emotions, enlightened and refreshed, coming back to your spirit and memory.

Embark from your hotel with an air-conditioned minivan on Pyramid Road-the plateau today holds three chief pyramids created by ancient Egyptian builders best known as Khufu, Khafre, and Menkaure. Be drawn into the mysteries surrounding these glorious monuments before they go off to see the Great Sphinx, a masterfully carved limestone beast with a pharaonic head that has been guarding the pyramids for thousands of years. Enjoy a sumptuous lunch at one of the most renowned local restaurants serving original Egyptian food. Let the day be done with a transfer back to Cairo International Airport to fly back to Aswan. Such was the end of your wonderful journey.
