Begin your walk through centuries of history as you explore the medieval backstreets bordering Al-Muizz Street. Visit some of the most well-known places, such as the Sultan Al-Mu'ayyad Mosque, the Qalawun Complex, and the beautifully preserved Beit El-Suhaymi, getting an insight into the Islamic and Ottoman architectural heritage of Cairo. Along the way, your guide will share stories of Cairo's golden ages, rulers, and cultural transformations. Enjoy a mid-morning break at a traditional café, sipping Egyptian tea or coffee while soaking in the old-world ambiance.

In the afternoon, head to the bustling Khan El Khalili Bazaar, where you'll have time to shop for souvenirs, local crafts, and spices. Have a traditional Egyptian lunch at a nearby local restaurant, perhaps some plate of heavy koshari or grilled kebabs. After lunch, continue walking along narrow alleys and vibrant street scenes, eventually ending up at the old Al-Azhar Mosque. If there is time, finish your tour at El-Fishawy Café, Cairo's most famous and oldest coffeehouse, for a final taste of local culture.
