Unveil Cairo's most specific hidden treasure: the Cave Church and Garbage City Tour, the harrowing pilgrimage through the Zabbaleen community in Manshiyat Naser, quite unlike all other walks of life. A truly off-the-beaten-path experience, this tour takes you today into the lives and culture of the community called Zabbaleen, a unique group classified by their current remarkable recycling practices backed by quite a profound Christian culture. You might hardly move a step within the narrow streets of Garbage City without seeing how waste became an efficient, self-sustaining system that out some 85 percent of the city's waste of the highest rates in the world.

Finally, the tour will take you to the magnificent Saint Simon the Tanner Monastery, also known as the Cave Church, which lies engraved in the Mokattam Hills. The largest church in the whole Middle East and stretched out to accommodate over 20,000 worshippers, this beautiful place was called "the most beautiful Christian site in the region." Its dramatic rock formations, biblically coupled carvings, and religious artwork tell the tale of Saint Simon, a legendary character in Coptic Christian history. As per its sheer majesty, the Cave Church gives a striking contrast to the junctures of life in Garbage City: indeed a spiritual and cultural endeavor.

This tour will have you immersed in the lives of the Zabbaleen people and their traditions for all the endurance in adversities they possess. It portrays an interesting dimension in the social fabric of Nature and culture to unite all-important issues of sustainability, faith, and strength of communities. History, an interest in environmentally sustainable initiatives, or a greater understanding of local culture will be found as a good alternative within this result and unforgettable viewpoint.
