The pyramids are dispersed from Abu Rawash in Giza to Hawara in the outskirts of Fayoum. The ancient Egyptians constructed these regal buildings between 2630 and 1530 BC. Its construction progressed from a step pyramid, such as the one at Djoser (3630 BC–2611 BC) at Saqqara, to a bent pyramid, and finally to the whole pyramid shape known as the Pyramids of Giza. In addition to protecting his mother, the pyramids were constructed to enable the pharaoh to ascend to heaven and then proceed to the afterlife.

In order to ensure his burial, King Khufu constructed the Great Pyramid.. King Khufu built the Great Pyramid to bury him. The king's spirit, according to the ancient Egyptians, ascended to heaven to join the other gods and remained to watch over them after death. He could then care for the life on earth by sending the Nile river, giving development and wealth, and safeguarding them from wickedness.

Thus, we provide a travel package visiting the pyramids of Giza and Saqqara. The most notable landmark in ancient Egypt's history is the pyramids. It is the destination of every lover of Egyptology. The greatness of the pyramid never ends here, with the Old Kingdom witnessing the construction of the three pyramids of Giza (Khufu, Khafre, and Menkaure), incorporated in the Seven Wonders of the World. Rather, this rare architectural form extended towards the Middle Kingdom.

Itinerary

Tour to Giza Pyramids and Saqqara from Aswan

In order for you to board your flight to Cairo International Airport and start your fascinating journey, we will take you to Luxor Airport. Our staff puts a lot of effort into making sure you're satisfied. Our first destination will be Saqqara, the oldest enormous stone structure in Egypt.

He was supposed to be the first or second Pharaoh of the Third Dynasty, Djoser (c. 2670-2650 BC), during Old Kingdom times (c. 2686-2125 BC). He may have ruled for a term of 19 years or, counting the 19 years as the biennial tax years, for 38.

After learning about the construction of the pyramid. You will see the pyramids of Giza after lunch. Khufu, Khafre, and Menkaure ruled during the whole period when the Pyramids of Giza were being constructed.

Due to a lack of historical documents, historians mostly think that the history of the Fourth and Sixth Dynasties was "written in stone" both literally and architecturally. This is because the monuments and their inscriptions allowed historians to recreate the history of this period. The pyramids provide very few hints as to when and how they were built, but the funerary temples that were built next to them and the steles that accompanied them tell us the kings' names and other salient information. Enjoy your overnight stay at your hotel in Cairo.
