Egypt

Fayoum, Cairo

Enjoy a unique camping vacation in Fayoum and discover amazing activities and sceneries. With a view of several sand dunes, we will go to the Magic Lake, one of Fayoum's most exquisite lakes.. After a long day of hiking, this location also has the most beautiful sunsets. Sand dunes spanning many kilometers may also be seen in Qasr Al Arab. Another beautiful hiking location, it's also a great place to camp and watch the stars.

Being Egypt's largest natural oasis and one of the country's most well-known tourist spots, Fayoum is regarded as one of the greatest places to go camping and on day excursions. It is well-known for having several natural features, the most well-known of which are the World Heritage features Wadi El Rayan Protected Area, Qarun Lake Protected Area, and Wadi El Hitan Protected Area. Numerous activities that tourists engage in, such paragliding, sand skiing, boat rides on Qarun Lake, and seeing the hamlet of Tunis, set it apart and help you feel at peace with the natural world.

Lake Qarun in Fayoum

It is one of the oldest Egyptian lakes, drawing its water from the flooding of the Nile River. It has now become a destination for many visitors under the slogan "One-Day Summer."

Activities

Both visitors and residents of Fayoum can head to Lake Qarun and engage in many activities, such as:

Relaxing on chairs and tables with umbrellas

Day 1: Visit and overnight at valley of the whales

Experience the most delightful journeys to Fayoum with our organization. Early in the morning, you will be driven from your Cairo hotel or apartment to Fayoum, where you may experience the adventure and take in a city that is very different from Cairo. As a deep dip on the Western Desert's limestone plateau, the governorate is Egypt's biggest natural oasis. All sides of it are desert, with the exception of the southeast, where it joins the Beni Suef Governorate. About 92 kilometers southwest of Cairo Governorate, it is located in the North Upper Egypt area.

You will take a 4x4 to the Valley of the Whales (Wadi Hytan) which is a protected natural area where scientists have discovered the skeleton of the first whales and fossils, which are preserved in rocks, of numerous plants and animals.

Then we move to the village of Tunis. Swiss potter Evelyn Porret visited Fayoum in the 1980s with her Egyptian friends.. No sooner had she discovered Tunis than she decided to build her own country house there. The house was built with a dome-shaped ceiling design, using environmentally friendly building materials. A masterpiece of eco-architecture, the potter's house encouraged others to build their homes in Tunis according to the same model. Perhaps Evelyn had no idea that she would alter the course of history and destiny of a little, unheard-of town named Tunis when she made the decision to relocate there more than thirty years ago.

Now it's time to camp in Wadi El Hitan, where you can enjoy the following list of activities:

1. Practice yoga in the open desert.
2. Climb the surrounding mountains and valleys.
3. Away from the reserve, ski on Wadi El Hitan's beaches.
4. Camp and prepare barbecue sessions in the desert.
5. Stay overnight and watch the stars and fireworks in the reserve's sky.
6. Go for a walk and hike up and down the valley, a fun experience in the Wadi El Hitan desert.
7. You can also ride motorcycles and four-wheel drive vehicles in designated areas.
8. Don't miss taking photos of the German Rock during your trip to Wadi El Hitan.
9. Enjoy a visit to the Wadi El Hitan Reserve and view the various archaeological excavations.

Day 2: Tour to the Egyptian museum and Coptic Cairo

After a satisfying breakfast, you will go to Lake Qarun. Lake Qarun in Fayoum, it is one of the oldest Egyptian lakes, drawing its water from the flooding of the Nile River. It has now become a destination for many visitors under the slogan "One-Day Summer."

Activities

Both visitors and residents of Fayoum can head to Lake Qarun and engage in many activities, such as:
