

Private Trip to Pyramids Ibn Tulun Mosque and Gayer Anderson

Price Starting From : $85

Half day Tour
Cairo
Egypt

Cairo Pyramids and Ibn Tulun Mosque

Enjoy our tour of the Ibn Tulun Mosque, the only mosque in Egypt that have stayed the same for hundreds of years and the one with the oldest minaret in the country. In addition, the Ibn Tulun Mosque is the only mosque in Egypt whose spiral minaret design was influenced by the Samarra Mosque in Iraq.

See the majestic pyramids of Saqqara and Giza to learn more fascinating facts about them. In anticipation of their eventual transformation into gods, the Egyptian pharaohs constructed enormous tombs for themselves as well as temples for the gods. These tombs were furnished with all the necessities for a monarch to lead and care for themselves in the afterlife.

The three enormous pyramids are only a single component of a bigger complex that also includes solar boat pits, palaces, temples, and other structures. What you need to know about their construction and who built them is provided here.

Overview

Inclusion

- A luxurious, air-conditioned car makes your transfers.
- Transportation by our personnel from hotels in Cairo or Giza.
- A tour guide Professional who speaks English throughout your visits to Cairo.
- The cost of entrance to every location included on the tour schedule is covered.
- All of our half-day tours of Cairo include a bottle of mineral water or soft drinks.
- The Half Day Tour includes all taxes and service fees associated with Egypt Day Tours.

Exclusion

- Anything else that isn't included
- Camel riding around the Pyramids of Giza.
- Tipping or expressions of gratitude are not covered
- Prices do not apply to Egypt's Easter or Christmas and New Year's excursions.

Itinerary

Trip to Cairo Pyramids Ibn Tulun Mosque and Gayer Anderson Museum Private

The Giza Pyramids will be your first destination. Our agent will pick you up in a private, air-conditioned vehicle and drive you to the designated destinations from your hotel or Cairo Airport.

Take pleasure in seeing the Sphinx, Menkaure, and Khafre. It is royal in character: The king is depicted as a reclining lion with a human head and covered in mongoose. The Sphinx once wore a false beard. This beard currently exists in a fragmented state, with some parts in Cairo and others in the British Museum.

You will be taken to Ibn Tulun Mosque, which will take you to a different era entirely from the first one, after finishing your tour of the Giza Necropolis and learning about its amazing history, thrilling tales, the religion of the Pharaohs, and everything else associated with this time period.

The Ibn Tulun Mosque will be your destination. The story of building the mosque goes back to when Fustat became too small for its inhabitants, Ahmad Ibn Tulun founded the city of Al-Qata'i in the year 256 AH, and built a congregational mosque in its center, which was completed in the year 265 AH. It is considered one of the largest mosques in the Islamic world, as its area, with the increase, that is, the space surrounding it on all sides except the direction of the qibla, is six and a half acres.

At the end of the tour, you will visit the Gayer-Anderson Museum. The reason for its establishment is that the British officer Gayer-Anderson Pasha submitted a request to the Committee for the Preservation of Arab Antiquities in 1935 to rent the two houses, restore them, furnish them in the Islamic style, and display his collection of Pharaonic and Islamic antiquities, in addition to his possessions dating back to various eras and civilizations from different countries, including India, China, Turkey, Iran, England, and Damascus. This furniture and his collection of antiquities would become the property of the Egyptian people after his death or when he finally left Egypt, and the two houses would be converted into a museum bearing his name. Then you will back to your hotel.