

Cairo Over Day Tour From Hurghada

Price Starting From : $0

One day tour
Egypt
Cairo

The Citadel of Saladin shines with lights that tell a story written on this spot since its construction by Sultan Saladin in the Middle Ages in 1176. It also plays a voice that celebrates heritage and music that sanctifies the bravery of Egyptians in the many historical events that the site holds throughout time, from the Mamluks to the era of the French campaign.

The brilliant sun, the inspiration of a thriving arts and culture, and the thrill of adventure all come together in Egypt to create incredible experiences that enhance life. You will feel as though you have discovered a second home in Egypt. There's a deep emphasis on family activities and community being embedded in every experience! Connect through cultural experiences as you explore monumental monuments, shop at fascinating markets, and share stories over a traditional meal to learn about Egyptian cuisine.

Take pleasure in visiting Coptic Cairo. The Coptic Churches tour of Cairo is an intriguing tour that takes visitors around the well-known Coptic Christian district of Cairo, Egypt. The Hanging Church, St. George's Church, the Church of the Virgin Mary, and the Ben Ezra Synagogue are among the significant locations that will be seen during this tour.

Overview

Inclusion

- All taxes and fees.
- Free water bottle for your trips throughout Cairo.
- A qualified tour guide for each and every excursion in Cairo.
- Transportation services to and from your Hurghada hotel.
- Modern, air-conditioned vehicles are used for all transportation to Hurghada Airport for Egypt Day Tours in Cairo.

Exclusion

- Individual expenditures.
- Drink something while eating.
- Anything additional that isn't listed on the tour schedule.
- Tipping is not anticipated on the flight from Hurghada to Cairo for the day excursion.

Itinerary

Coptic Cairo from Hurghada

Our tours start early in the morning. You will be picked up from Cairo International Airport and transferred to your first destination of the day, the Saladin Citadel. The construction of Saladin Citadel took place in 1176 AD, or 572 AH. Although he started the building, Saladin never finished it. When the fortress was completed, Sultan Al-Kamil bin Al-Adil was the first to occupy it and use it as a royal residence.

From the Ayyubid period to the end of the Muhammad Ali dynasty, historical events did not spare the Citadel of Saladin. The renowned Citadel Massacre occurred there, and several sultans were crowned. From there, armies set out to liberate the Levant from the Crusaders, and to conquer Cyprus and other places. The Citadel contains rare treasures and artifacts, and many secrets within the Citadel have not been revealed yet.

The Construction of the Saladin Citadel commenced in 1176 AD (or 572 AH), although it never saw completion under its namesake Saladin. Sultan Al-Kamil bin Al-Adil was the first to take over and make the Citadel his royal palace while it was being repaired. The last king to stay at the Citadel for an extended period of time was Ismail the Khedive, who soon afterward relocated to Abdeen Palace.

After that, you will be taken to Egypt's shining example of civilization, the National Museum. After that, you'll be taken to a nearby eatery for lunch. The Hanging Church will be your final destination before you are driven to the airport. It is situated above the Babylonian Citadel's southern entrance in the Old Cairo neighborhood. The term "Hanging Church" comes from the fact that it is 23.5 meters long, 18.5 meters broad, and 10 meters above the ground. The church's opening comes after a protracted repair process. To conserve the site and return it to its former glory, the Supreme Council of Antiquities (SCA) made the decision to begin this urgent restoration project in 1998. The 1992 earthquake did have a significant impact on this church, as seen by the numerous fissures.