Are you prepared to witness civilization's splendor on the Nile's banks?

When we reach the temple of Abu Simbel, you will see the living legend of love between Ramses II and Nefertari. At the end of the day, we return to you with a modern car that guarantees you a happy conclusion for a distinguished adventure.

Abu Simbel, also known as the Great Temple, is a collection of two temples, one of which was constructed for Ramses II, the Pharaoh, and the other for "Nefertari," his lovely wife. It was founded two centuries ago and was constructed in 1255 BC.

Three important Egyptian gods are worshipped at the Great Temple, which is distinguished by four enormous sculptures of Ramses II on its façade. In contrast, the younger temple is devoted to the goddess of love, Hathor, and has statues of his adored wife, Nefertari.

Tour to Abu Simbel from Luxor

To begin your wonderful journey from Luxor, you will be met in the morning. After you are taken to the Abu Simbel Temple, our guide will give you some facts, including: In the 19th century, Swiss Egyptologist Johann Ludwig Burckhardt rediscovered On the west bank of the Nile, the two temples of Abu Simbel were cut into two hills of sandstone. Surprisingly, he discovered one head emerging from the sand, its neighbor broken, and the other two, still intact, emerging from the surface. At the start of the 20th century, other Egyptologists carried out the excavation and clearance.

Two temples in Abu Simbel have bases that are 125 meters above sea level. Under the guidance of UNESCO and with assistance from worldwide collaboration, the two temples of Abu Simbel were conserved. Several projects were proposed for their rescue. The first project was to protect the site with a huge dam, the second project was to raise the two temples using hydraulic jacks, and the third was to move the two temples, cut them into 1,305 blocks, and rebuild them 65 meters higher, out of reach of the Nile. This last project, which was a Swedish project, was selected; it was a project. Early in 1964, the rescue effort got underway, and it was finished in 1972.

Finally, you will be transferred back to your hotel in Luxor, after completing your tour and providing you with the main information.
